"Uncle Jim" Livingston spent a few days in Raton on business last week.

S. E. Pelphrey was a business visitor to Raton and other points last Saturday.

Earl Like, who has been laid up with a rather severe attack of measles, is now able to be out again.

J. J. Brick has returned to his duties at the railroad shops after spending a few days at Des Moines.

The Swastika Dancing Club held its regular fortnightly dance at the Matkin Hall last Saturday evening.

Ira Duckworth, the popular proprietor of the Oxford Hotel, was at the Elks meeting at Raton last Friday.

Jas. O. Rogers spent a day or so in Raton on business last week, and while there attended the Elks' doings.

Plans are being made for a big masquerade dance at the C. M. A. Hall on Tuesday evening, March 17th, and a fine time is being anticipated.

I. R. Charette, E. Charette and Geo. E. Remley attended the Republican county convention at Raton last Saturday, as delegates from Precinct No. 3.

A force of engineers are engaged in staking out a large tract of land around Colfax. The land is being given the legal subdivision of 40 acres and will be thrown on the market at once.

A large wild cat was shot by Mrs. G. Chase out on the Chase ranch last week. This is but one of the many wild cats that this daring huntress has brought down within the last few months.

T. R. Nance has returned to Cimarron after spending a month or more in Oklahoma. Mr. Nance was a former resident of the new state, and his family are still in Oklahoma, but expect to join him here in the not distant future.

Geo. H. Webster jr., left Cimarron for Las Vegas, Albuquerque and Silver City, combining business pertaining to the coming Irrigation Congress with his duties as delegate to the Republican convention.

H. H. Butler, the veteran saddle maker and harness man was a business and pleasure visitor in Cimarron last Friday. Mr. Butler has lived in Raton for many years, being engaged in the harness business there. He probably made the first saddles here in Colfax County.

ASSESSOR IN CIMARRON
The Colfax County assessor, Mr. of New Mexico and Colfax county, once serving as sheriff, is very much pleased with the rapid growth of Cimarron.

JOLLY SURPRISE.
A party of friends gave Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Matkin a jolly surprise last Saturday evening. The new Matkins Bungalow has just been completed and the surprise took the nature of a little house warming. The house is a model of taste and comfort, and as a hostess Mrs. Matkin shines. An open fire lent pleasure to the occasion, and the guests seated themselves around it and passed the evening in singing and story telling. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

COULTER DOES BIG HAULING
Mr. C. H. Coulter of Cimarron is now engaged in hauling a large quantity of supplies from Cimarron to the Rayado for the big grading camp of Colt & Windburn. He left Cimarron Monday morning with a load consisting of over fifty kegs of blasting powder, and will make several other trips to the same point. Colt & Windburn have about fifty or sixty teams and about ninety men engaged on the big irrigation reservoir of the Farmers' Development company, and Mr. Coulter states that the work is progressing very rapidly for such an enormous undertaking.

BIG GAME PULLED OFF

BURLY BINGERS BEAT BUM BLUFFERS BATTING BALL—THE CHALLENGED CHOOSE CHOICE CHAPS.

Last Sunday afternoon at the ball park another of the exciting games of ball that have been taking place in Cimarron all through the winter, was pulled off. Captain Fisher, the lengthy Purdue man wore a "come-on" smile as he challenged the doughty little captain Sullivan to take his pick of the men on the field and play ball. But Fishers overlooked Sullivan's nationality and the fact that it was so near St. Patrick's day. Bad blunders and bum batting beat the Bum Bluffers badly. When the score ran up to about eight to four in favor of the Burly Bingers, Captain Fisher looked about upon his crestfallen followers, he hummed a jaunty little tune, fixed his eagle eye on the manly form of our little plumber-pitcher and waited for the ball to slide over the plate so that he could get just one run in and gain this day. Well, he waited—and got the ball. With a sudden sweep of his mighty arms, the hickory stick flashed through the air, and the grand stand wildly cheered as the ball went soaring, soaring, and still soaring—into the pitchers' hands. "One strike." Again and yet one more the stillness was broken by that cry, "One strike," and behold the mighty was fallen. Fisher to the tall grass, nothing was doing after the big smoke of the Bum Bluffers had failed and the game ended nine to six in favor of the challenged.

CHURCH ITEMS

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last Sunday morning, no services were held at the Methodist church. In the evening, however, the regular services were held, Rev. J. Alfred Morgan speaking in a most interesting manner on the subject of "The Personality of God." The Methodist church orchestra has received their new music and is hard at work getting ready to make their public appearance. As soon as they have learned some of the new music, they will give a regular Sunday evening musical service just before the regular church service begins.

A business meeting of the Epworth League was called for last evening.
